Protection from your spouse's debts

When you file a joint tax return, the law may protect you from having to pay for liabilities for which your spouse (or former spouse) is responsible.

Innocent spouse relief

If your spouse is responsible for an incorrect item or an underpayment of tax on your joint tax return, you may be eligible for innocent spouse relief. This could change the amount you owe, or you may be entitled to a refund.

For more information, or to submit a claim, go to www.irs.gov and download Innocent Spouse Relief (Publication 971), or call 1-800-829-3676 to request a copy. Note: You must submit a claim no later than two years from the date of our first attempt to collect the outstanding debt. This notice is an example of an attempt to collect, although it might not be our first attempt to collect.

Injured spouse relief

You may be eligible for injured spouse relief if some or all of your overpayment has been (or will be) applied to pay your spouse's past-due income taxes and other debt (child support, spousal support, student loans). You may be entitled to a refund for your share of an overpayment that's been applied to your spouse's debt.

For more information, or to submit a claim, go to www.irs.gov and download Injured Spouse Allocation (Form 8379) or call 1-800-829-3676 to request a copy.
