

State Return Filing Update | H&R BLOCK SOFTWARE

due to Retroactive Federal Unemployment Compensation Exclusion

As of 7/16/2021

State	Is my state ready for me to file today?	How will the unemployment compensation exclusion be applied?
AL	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Alabama does not conform to the federal rule, but instead offers a full unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
AK	N/A	Alaska does not impose a personal income tax and therefore this does not apply.
AR	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Arkansas does not conform to the federal rule, but instead offers a full unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
AZ	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Arizona conforms to the federal rule.
CA	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	California does not conform to the federal rule, but instead offers a full unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
CO	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Colorado does not allow an exclusion.
CT	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Connecticut conforms to the federal rule.
DC	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	D.C. conforms to the federal rule.
DE	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Delaware conforms to federal AGI but offers a full unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
FL	N/A	Florida does not impose an individual income tax and therefore this does not apply.
GA	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Georgia does not allow an exclusion.
HI	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Hawaii does not allow an exclusion.

State Return Filing Update | H&R BLOCK SOFTWARE

due to Retroactive Federal Unemployment Compensation Exclusion

As of 7/16/2021

State	Is my state ready for me to file today?	How will the unemployment compensation exclusion be applied?
IA	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Iowa conforms to the federal rule.
ID	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Idaho does not allow an exclusion.
IL	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Illinois conforms to the federal rule.
IN	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Indiana does not conform to the federal rule, but instead offers a partial unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
KS	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Kansas conforms to the federal rule.
KY	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Kentucky does not allow an exclusion.
LA	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Louisiana conforms to the federal rule.
MA	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Massachusetts does not conform to the federal rule, but instead offers an unemployment compensation exclusion under state law for qualifying taxpayers (law change as of 04/01/21).
MD	No, please wait for an update.	Maryland conforms to federal AGI but offers a full unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
ME	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Maine conforms to the federal rule.
MI	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Michigan conforms to the federal rule.
MN	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Minnesota does not allow an exclusion.

State Return Filing Update | H&R BLOCK SOFTWARE

due to Retroactive Federal Unemployment Compensation Exclusion

As of 7/16/2021

State	Is my state ready for me to file today?	How will the unemployment compensation exclusion be applied?
MO	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Missouri conforms to the federal rule.
MS	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Mississippi does not allow an exclusion.
MT	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Montana conforms to federal AGI but offers a full unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
NC	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	North Carolina does not allow an exclusion.
ND	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	North Dakota conforms to the federal rule.
NE	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Nebraska conforms to the federal rule.
NH	N/A	New Hampshire does not impose an individual income tax and therefore this does not apply.
NJ	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	New Jersey does not conform to the federal rule, but instead offers a full unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
NM	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	New Mexico conforms to the federal rule.
NY	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	New York does not allow for an exclusion.
NV	N/A	Nevada does not impose an individual income tax and therefore this does not apply.
OH	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Ohio conforms to the federal rule.
OK	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Oklahoma conforms to the federal rule.
OR	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Oregon conforms to the federal rule.

State Return Filing Update | H&R BLOCK SOFTWARE

due to Retroactive Federal Unemployment Compensation Exclusion

As of 7/16/2021

State	Is my state ready for me to file today?	How will the unemployment compensation exclusion be applied?
PA	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Pennsylvania does not conform to the federal rule, but instead offers a full unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
RI	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Rhode Island does not allow an exclusion.
SC	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	South Carolina conforms to the federal rule (law change as on 05/18/21).
SD	N/A	South Dakota does not impose an individual income tax and therefore this does not apply.
TN	N/A	Tennessee does not impose an individual income tax on wages or salaries, and therefore this does not apply.
TX	N/A	Texas does not impose an individual income tax and therefore this does not apply.
UT	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Utah conforms to the federal rule.
VA	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Virginia does not conform to the federal rule, but instead offers a full unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
VT	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Vermont conforms to the federal rule.
WA	N/A	Washington does not impose an individual income tax and therefore this does not apply.
WI	Yes, all filers are good to file federal and state taxes now.	Wisconsin does not conform to the federal rule, but instead offers a partial unemployment compensation exclusion under state law.
WV	No, please wait for an update.	West Virginia conforms to the federal rule.
WY	N/A	Wyoming does not impose an individual income tax and therefore this does not apply.