

JAMIL KHAN

CHIEF SMALL BUSINESS OFFICER

Jamil Khan is the Chief Small Business Officer for H&R Block, where he leads the company's Small Business division, helping freelancers, self-employed individuals, and entrepreneurs thrive with a comprehensive suite of year-round products and services. He joined H&R Block in 2019 as Chief Strategy Officer, where he helped define and execute the company's 5-year strategic vision.

Khan has more than two decades of experience leading strategy and P&Ls for organizations ranging from technology companies to Fortune 100 brands. His expertise spans merger and acquisition integrations, growth strategy creation, product development, P&L management, and the restructuring of underperforming business units to drive efficiency and profitability.

Prior to joining H&R Block, Khan served as Senior Vice President of Strategy and Business Development for a Boston-based technology company focused on disrupting the traditional textbook market. Khan was also led the Americas division for the Timex Group, with P&L responsibility for Canada, Mexico, and Latin America. In this role he drove major change in management processes, established new partnerships, and executed the successful turnaround of Timex Canada in 2018. Khan also championed strategy at Staples and Zipcar and served as a strategy consultant for Boston Consulting Group. He started his career in sales and marketing at Procter & Gamble.

Khan holds a Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree from Harvard Business School and a bachelor's degree in chemistry from University College London.